Simon Devane COO

'At the core of our business is our team. People are our most important asset; the different strengths and experiences that each individual brings with them helps to create a culture that is willing to listen and embrace change. I am absolutely committed to providing a world class business infrastructure, to support our staff and to nurture a team environment.'

New Zealand born, Simon left his home country in 2002 where he had been working for Carter Holt Harvey, which, at that time, was a subsidiary of International Paper and the largest wood products company in Australasia. On arrival in the UK Simon began consulting on a project basis for Network Rail, BP, and British Telecom, before joining the Pure team in 2007.

Having worked across five different sectors in the last 10 years, Simon has seen, and experienced, the good and the bad of different business structures and management philosophies. This experience has been invaluable in planning the growth and strategic development of Pure Sports Medicine.
